Super Duper

Numbers not even a Superhero can crunch.

Alexander Prue

Copyright 2025 alexanderwayneprue@gmail.com

Characters

Rita Dexter

Phil Lassadar

Anita Shorely

Sean Camino

DJ

Dr. Esoteric

The Major

Driver

Created using Celtx

EXT. CITY STREETS OF SEATTLE - EVENING

Rita Dexter, mid-20s, professionally dressed with dark suit coat and slacks, is walking down the sidewalk carrying a box of personal objects and talking on the phone, shoulder to ear style.

RITA
Hello, my name is Rita Dexter. I wanted to talk to your recruiters and see if they're taking on new clients. What special skills do I have? Well I can count prime numbers to seven digits, balance a stack of books on my head, and I figured out Microsoft Excel all on my own in high school. Uh huh, okay, I see..... slowly at first before increasingly speaker faster. Well until recently I worked as an actuary for Morgenson and Jorgenson associates. They recently had a merger with Kroeger and Sons, after the ledgers presented were found to be perjured during some closed doors cloture. So the lawyers came and sutured up the futures. Meaning a ten percent cut across company culture which left a lot of us in a stupor.... uh huh, yeah, okay well if I could just talk to. No please don't put me on hold I have been trying to get a human being for hours I've just been riding the subway up and down since I got booted after the morning meeting. It was so embarrassing and it was in front of everyone. The worst part is they had me calculate my own severance without me realizing it and let me tell you I was not kind on the insurance premiums renewals so if you could see it in your last bit of humanity to... hello? Hello are you still there?

Rita juggles her burdens and looks at her phone as the battery gives out.

RITA (CONT'D)
You have got to be...

Thunder and lighting as dark clouds form

RITA (CONT'D)
kidding me.

She looks around desperate to escape the coming rain and sees a glowing sign on the other side of the street. The Hideout in green neon next to an open sign. Without a second thought she hurries across.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

The Hideout is quiet not having opened for business quiet yet. The place is all dark wood. Super Hero memorabilia covers much of the wall space. Photos, newspaper headlines, and artwork depicting heroes in their colorful costumes, however a noticeable amount of fading has set into much of it all. There is a central bar running across the back wall with 13 stools. 13 Tables arranged around the room with chairs. Behind the bar is a wall of bottles and a small char grill. Above the grill is a sign labeled MENU that lists one item. Steak Sandwich. PHIL LASSADER bartender and proprietor of the tavern. A tall broad shouldered man with short dark hair streaked with grey. His button up shirt is starch white and clean. Phil is sweeping the floor and doing last of his pre-opening chores. Flipping on lights, plugging in the old jukebox. He also effortlessly picks the jukebox up off the ground with one hand and continues sweeping. Phil Lassader is also the superhero The Cinderblock, one man with the strength of stone and steel. Now retired and living the quiet life and dancing to the music.

Rita pushed in the door suddenly

RITA
Excuse me can I charge my phone here!?

PHIL is turns and drops the jukebox with a THUD when he sees Rita. They both freeze.

PHIL:
Sorry you surprised me. You can charge your phone but you gotta buy something, also we're not open yet.

Walking up to the bar and setting her things down on the corner.

RITA:
Well the OPEN sign is on and your door is open. Also it’s raining so maybe cut me some slack.

Phil walks around the bar.

PHIL:
Alright fine, what can I get you?

RITA
I need a drink.

PHIL
What kind?

RITA
A beer.

PHIL
What Kind?

RITA
Whatever’s on tap.

PHIL
Lady this isn’t a movie you gotta say a brand!

RITA
Jesus, whatever's cheapest! All I can afford anyway.

PHIL
Glass of the cheap stuff coming up. So what brings you here? I’ve never seen you in here before.

Phil serves Rita as she counts out a hand full of bills and puts them down on the bar

RITA
First time for everything. Should I not be here?

PHIL
No it’s fine, I guess.

Phil picks up some mail and grimaces while flipping through.

RITA
Your customer service is top notch you know that?

PHIL
So I have been told. Do you always
(MORE)

PHIL (CONT'D)
carry around a box with a plant, calendar, and what looks like a medieval torture device?

Grabbing her things.

RITA
It's a desk weight, you put it on your ankles when you're sitting. It's supposed to help with circulation and and and... whatever. The guy at the mall was very convincing. Also no, this box is what is often referred to as the shame box. The box you fill up with your personal objects from your desk when you are quoting "No longer a necessary budgetary expense,". This box is the box a person carries through the bullpen while all her so called friends point and whisper and definitely don't offer to call the elevator when they see her struggling out of fear of catching some disease or something I don't know.

PHIL (HESITAITING)
Only when we're at our lowest do we know who are friends really are.

RITA
...are you a fortune cookie! What the hell does that mean?!

PHIL
I don't know, just felt like something people say

RITA
Maybe I could bartend? This isn't that hard is it?

PHIL
That's what they told me when I started.

Rita looks around the room, changing the subject.

RITA
So what's the deal with this place anyway? Is it like a theme bar? Never seen so much cape shit in one room.
(MORE)

RITA (CONT'D)

PHIL
What? You don't like it?

RITA
Huh? what? No no I like it I guess. Just not something I've seen a lot of lately.

PHIL
Well the owner likes it so what are you gonna do.

RITA
You could tell him people prefer overhead lighting that doesn't look like it could fall out of the ceiling at any moment.

Phil looks up.

PHIL
I'll make sure he gets the message.

RITA
You know something, you look kind of familiar. Have you ever been on tv...

Anita enters from street door. Anita is The Hideouts waitress. She walks with the kind of confidence only a five foot woman has. As flashy as she is friendly. The most effective kind of waitress. The kind that get read your mind to get your order. Phil immediately tries to warn her about Rita.

PHIL
You’re late Anita, we're already open.

RITA
I thought you weren’t open?

PHIL
Mind your own business.

ANITA
I am not late Phil. I am on time.

PHIL
Say hello to... uhhhh

RITA
Uhhhh Rita

ANITA (DOESNT MISS A BEAT)
Hey nice to meet you.

PHIL
Yeah she just got fired I thnk.

RITA
No need to point out the obvious.

Anita looks over at Rita and takes her in with her eyes, she effortlessly reads Ritas mind.

Don't worry about it, you're cute. Do not email your ex boyfriend right now, it is not worth it.

RITA (CONT'D)
Jimmy? Why would I email Jimmy? I would never.... oh man I might do that.

ANITA
Anyway as I was coming in I saw this billboard. A huge garish green thing with a lawyer type yukking it up with the American Flag, and he was saying I got your back, or something like that anyway I see that as I'm crossing the street on third…

SEAN the barback enters practically kicking in the door. Early 20s, jeans and a t-shirt. He moves quickly around the room, speeding from point to point along with his words.

SEAN
Don’t say it, I already know it!

PHIL
Seany welcome our guest.

RITA
Am I going to be introduced to everyone now?

SEAN
I know I am late but that is no excuse to yell at me.

Sean hurries around the bar seeing Rita. Shakes her hand vigorously.

SEAN (CONT'D)
Oh hey how you doing.

PHIL
Rita is..

RITA
Please stop telling everyone!

PHIL
I was just going to say

SEAN
Tell me Rita what sounds better to you. A bingo night or all you can eat crab rangoon. Bear in mind the crab is already paid for.

RITA
Uhhhhhh.

SEAN
Anita I got your tickets, don't know why you keep playing though. I can tell you about some real investments if you want.

ANITA
No I'll keep playing, at least this way I know I'm going to lose.

The two employees exit into the back.

RITA
They seem nice.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - BACKROOM

SEAN
Who's the lady?

ANITA
She's just visiting, cool your jets and keep it under the speed limit.

SEAN
I make no promises.

ANITA
And you ask me why you're still single.

SEAN
I'm not gonna share things with you if you use them against me.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

PHIL
Listen I can see you're dealing with some stuff. But if you want I can call you a cab while your phone charges.

RITA
Uhhhhhh.

Thinking about it. Lighting and Thunder flash

That might not be the worst idea I've heard today.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR - LATER

Rita still sits at the bar nursing another drink. The bar has slowly filled up with customers and regulars. Phil and the staff are busy. A few customers display certain feats that to Rita are momentarily peculiar. A flame comes out of a guys thumb, another absent mindedly levitates a coaster.

RITA
You get a pretty... diverse crowd in here.

SEAN
Ahhh this is nothing. You should see it on karaoke night.

RITA
You do karaoke here?

SEAN
No but if we did it would crazy! I should write that one down.

Phil enters carrying a keg in each hand. Ritas eyes him oddly Phil starts pretending to be struggling

PHIL
Leave her alone Sean, I need you to
(MORE)

PHIL (CONT'D)
change kegs 3 and 4.

SEAN
Boss man I got an idea to run by you too. I was talking to Stevan Hottsnagle and he says he's got a hookup on an old turntable and I thought it would be a great way to liven this place up a bit. Give it a real party atmosphere.

PHIL
I thought Steven was renting a moving truck? Wasn't he being sued for property damage?

SEAN
It wasn't his fault they expected him to move an entire piano by himself. He improvised with the slip and slide. Anyway, he switched lanes and decided to instead throw moving parties in the back of the van and drive people to bars.

PHIL
And you want to bring that here?

SEAN
Well no I was just gonna borrow the turn table but that would be better!

PHIL
Wait Sean no I was just asking

SEAN
We'll talk!

Sean runs off and exits

RITA
Never a dull moment here I see.

PHIL
He's a good kid, just needs to stop running around and focus on something.

RITA
Would a DJ really be so bad? I mean the place is a little....

PHIL
A little what?

RITA
Well I don't want to say dingy...or sad...or whats the word I'm looking for.

PHIL
Rustic? Charming? Nonoffensive?

RITA
No that's definitely not it. I just meant....

PHIL
Hold that thought. GUYS I TOLD YOU DON'T PUT THE DART BOARD NEXT TO THE WINDOW!

Phil hurries off. At the same time Ritas' charging phone lights up behind the bar.

RITA
Oh wait could you just...

Phil is already gone.

Damnit.

She tries to reach over but she can't get it. She looks around for help but finds nothing.

INT. PHILS OFFICE - A LITTLE LATER

Phil is sitting at a desk with readers on looking at letters, bills, and forms. The office is small and cramped and Phil barely seems to fit behind the desk that is covered in stacks of papers. He is slowly typing and clicking on an old computer. His hands are to big to type with more than one finger at a time.

While squinting and whispering to himself

PHIL
For forms A1-A12 upload as a PDF. For B-D mail those in separately. Otherwise attach as a jpeg to all emails and forward to main office?
(MORE)

PHIL (CONT'D)
What the hell is a JPEG?

There is a knock at the door and Anita enters.

ANITA
Hey Philly delivery guy is here and wants your signature.

PHIL
Tell him I'll be there in a minute. If I leave now this form will time out and I think it says I'll get audited if that happens.

ANITA
I thought you had Gary handling all this crap for you?

PHIL
I don't need Gary. How hard can it be?

ANITA
That's what you said last time before you threw the computer out out the window.

PHIL
What's your point?

ANITA
That I don't have to be a mind reader to know when you're in over your head. What you wanna do about the stiff by the way, the crowd is quiet right now but you know how these guys are after a few drinks. Terry's gonna end up laid out from end to end of the bar before to long.

Anita mimics stretching with her hands.

PHIL
It's no problem I'm watching her, I called her a cab, Terry is keeping his hands on his end of the bar.

ANITA
If you say so...

Hands Phil an envelope he takes and looks at it.

Ah this is nothing.

Puts letter in a draw.

ANITA (CONT'D)
A hand delivered after hours letter is nothing? I don't need to be a mind reader to know that's a load a bull.

PHIL
It's nothing really, more crap for the pile.

ANITA
Then why did you put it in the drawer.

PHIL
I have a system.

ANITA
Oh you have a system?

PHIL
Yes I do and it isn't your job so can you do your job while I go sign for some kegs.

ANITA
Alright Mr. Touchy. I got like 6 tables waiting on me anyway.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR - LATER

Rita has been unsuccessfully trying to reach over the bar to grab her charging phone after seeing it light up. Phil comes over as she is stretched half away across the bar still arm and fingers out stretched.

PHIL
Normally when we see people doing that we have to cut them off.

RITA
Oh finally, can you please get my phone. It keeps buzzing and I think it's important.

Phil picks up the phone and looks at the screen before passing it over.

PHIL
Nice picture, that you?

Rita takes the phone and begins furiously swiping and tapping at

RITA
Me and my brother yeah. Right after he helped me move into my place. The place I can no longer afford which is why this email could be very important.

Anita comes over with an order and tray of drinks and looks over Ritas shoulder.

ANITA
Oh he's cute. A real Tony Shaloub type. Three beers and a martini for table 12.

PHIL
What kind? You can't just say a beer I need to know what kind.

ANITA
How should I know, that's all they said.

PHIL
You're a waitress, that's what the job is.

ANITA
Well hold on than.

Anita turns and looks back over at her table for a moment using her mind reading powers and turns back to Phil

A Busch, and two Stella's.

PHIL
I don't got Stella.

ANITA
Than just give them whatever's on tap. It all tastes the same.

RITA
Hey, I know you're trying to work but could you...

Sean walks around the other side of the bar.

SEAN
Alright I changed the kegs, mopped up the bathroom, called Steven, and as a favor took out the trash in your office.

PHIL
Wait what trash? Also why did you call Steven I told you I don't want the DJ?

SEAN
You said you'd think about it.

PHIL
I was still thinking!

ANITA
Hey my tips are evaporating over here.

RITA
I'm just gonna take this over...

PHIL
I'm working on it Anita, Sean don't empty my trash and don't call Steven until I tell you...

(Continuous) Rita takes her phone into the bars backroom and continues trying to read her messages. We see a shot of the phone including a missed call from "Anthony Brother" along with an email titled "EMPLOYEMENT OPPURTUNITY" The battery is still low. Phil notices her go off while Sean and Anita continue talking back and forth.

ANITA
Oh by the way I never told you about when I was coming into work earlier I saw this woman under a billboard.

PHIL
Huh? Terry I see you!

INT. THE HIDEOUT - BACKROOM - SAME TIME

Rita is sitting on a keg by the window reading her phone. We see on the screen an email labeled offer of employment. She is excited and begins reading to herself.

RITA
"Mrs. Dexter we are sorry for the way our conversation went today and would like to present you with a new offer," Oh thank god, "Here in lie the details of your new position,"

Rita continues. Reading silently to herself pumping her fists.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

A man enters with a DJ set on a cart, while the staff continues to work.

DJ
Where do I set up Sean?

SEAN
Right over here.

PHIL (RAISING HIS VOICE)
How is this happening now I feel like we just talked about this?

SEAN
I figured a demonstration of the ideas potential would help you visualize my idea.

PHIL
Sean on today of all days.

The DJ continues to set up a portable turn table on a just to small table.

DJ (LOUDLY)
What's up boys and girls! How are we feeling tonight!?

Crickets.

DJ
Let's go!

He begins to blast techno music. Phil has had enough and walks around the bar to put a stop to this before the crowd gets up and starts dancing suddenly to his surprise. Rita comes dancing by him very pleased.

RITA
Hey lets get another round. Maybe some of the medium cheap stuff this time.

He rubs at his temple when the phone behind the bar rings. He goes to pick it up.

PHIL
Gary how you doing. Yeah I got the letter, no I haven't looked at it yet. What do you mean my rates are going up? "Increased Super Hero Activity"? They're all over town what I am supposed to do about it!?

The party rages around him. Fade out.

ACT II

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR - CONTINUOUS

Phil is on the phone as a spontaneous party plays around him.

Gary hang on let me call you back.

Phil hangs up and looks around at the crowd. The rain has kept up but the atmosphere has grown even livelier as well as the crowd in The Hideout as the DJ keeps the crowd moving. Couples levitate, some slide around with unnatural grace, one of them glows in time with the music Rita is oblivious. Phil is pouring drinks as quick as he can Sean is dancing with a group near the center. Anita comes up to the bar with orders.

ANITA
Beefeater martini up with a twist. Plymouth martini, rocks, olive. And a Bass Ale.

She pauses and looks up and down the bar at all the customers trying to order.

And a lot of other stuff too.

PHIL
Sean! I need more glasses!

SEAN (DANCING)
Say less!

Sean speeds over and begins cleaning glasses in the sink and making a mess.

PHIL
Alright alright cool it. I need you back here. I can't do this all by myself.

SEAN
I got you man.

Sean runs and starts filling drinks.

PHIL
Anita give me five minutes I gotta call Gary back.

ANITA
Might take longer than that.

PHIL
What?

Phil looks at the crowd and sees Rita dancing over to the bar.

RITA
Wow it really took off in here.

PHIL
Yeah you could say that I guess. Hey I think your car should be hear soon if you want to take your box I can walk you out. A good bartender always escorts a customer to the car.

RITA
Actually I think I'll stick around for a bit. I feel like celebrating.

PHIL
Well if that's the case how about you try celebrating the old fashioned way.

RITA
How's that?

PHIL (DESPERATE)
By fulfilling your dream of bartending come around and try it out.

RITA
Oh sure I guess why not! What do I have to do?

PHIL
First we need to restock so go to the closet and get some bottles.

RITA
Which ones?

PHIL
Just a bunch take your time.

Phil pushes Rita off with a box. Turns to Anita and points.

Watch her would you?

Anita rolls her eyes?

INT. PHILS OFFICE - A LITTLE LATER

Phil is on the phone standing and pacing. It takes him 1-2 steps each time.

PHIL
What super hero activity are they even talking about? There hasn't been any. You know I can't have my rates go up again. How are they able to just do this? I got the place labeled as Neutral Territory. We don't have super hero activity here.

A crash from outside the door.

I didn't hear anything must be on your end. What can I do Gary? I need to send in a appeal before the date of the increase, when is that? and before you say tomorrow morning know that I can reach through this phone. 9AM!? The letter, what letter I didn't get any letter. Oh wait I did hang on. Where did I put it?

He begins to search the small office when the lights and phone cut out.

Oh you have got to be kidding me.

VOICE (O.S.)
Cheering.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

It's dark but the music continues and the crowd continues to dance.

DJ (LOUDLY)
We got generator power so don't you worry the party continues!

A customer accidently spills their drink on another customer.

OLDER VILLIAN (LOUDLY)
What is this!? Why you have spilt your drink all over my cloak! This is among the worst sins a man can commit. A
(MORE)

OLDER VILLIAN (LOUDLY) (CONT'D)
PARTY FOUL! You shall feel the wrath of the master of the strange and mysterious, Dr. Esoteric!

He sweeps out his cloak and energy gathers around him.

ANITA
Always with the capes this one.

OLDER HERO
Well if you want a piece of The Major I can give you what you're looking for!

He stands up and puts his fists up which start to loose sparks when he punches them together. Phil enters from his office.

PHIL
Alright that's enough! You guys know the rules. No fighting or overt displays! Neutral Territory! I got a sign and everything!

Phil walks between the two and lifts them both by their collars. They kick their feet as they're held. The crowd is loud and jeering and powers start going off all over the place. Rita enters from the store room with a box of bottles.

RITA
Alright I got a bunch of options. Can't wait to...

Rita takes in the scene as they all freeze and turn to look at her.

RITA (CONT'D)
uhhhhhhh or maybe not. Should I just put these anywhere? Maybe I'll just take my things and go.

Rita begins to gather her things and head to the door.

RITA (CONT'D)
Had a great time but this seems like a private... thing.

One of the customers near the door steps in front of it.

or not.

He locks the door.

Well now you're just being dramatic.

Sean enters from the back laughing

SEAN
What happened to the party why's everyone standing around? Oh.

DR. ESOTERIC
Phillip if you wouldn't mind.

THE MAJOR
Yeah can you let us go?

PHIL
Oh yeah sorry.

Phil drops the two nemesis's.

DR. ESOTERIC
Now what do you propose we do with her? Should we have Anita do a little.

Dr. Esoteric wiggles his fingers around his head.

PHIL
No we don't have to do that.

RITA
Excuse me what are we doing with me?

PHIL
Nothing.

SEAN
They want to wipe your mind so you don't remember being a bar full of super heroes.

RITA
What!?

PHIL
Sean!

SEAN
She asked!?

PHIL
Now calm down we don't have to over react. She's fine, just a little lost.

The crowd doesn't agree and murmurs their dissent, pressing closer.

PHIL (RAISING HIS VOICE)
ALRIGHT! Alright. I'll take care of it.

He walks over to Rita and takes her box.

PHIL
Anita take her outback.

Anita comes over and puts her arm around Rita.

ANITA
Come on dear, it'll be fine.

The two move off towards the backdoor as Rita stammers.

EXT. THE HIDEOUT - BACK PATIO

The patio is covered from the rain but empty otherwise. Rita stumbles away from Anita.

RITA
Okay I can imagine what you have to do to me. I totally understand superheroes need their secret identity and everything. And letting a random stranger off the street find where all the guys like to knock off at the end of a hard day of daring dos but hear me out. I have a terrible memory for one thing.

ANITA
That's not true you have an amazing memory.

RITA
I do, I memorized all the lyrics to We Didn't Start the Fire in 2 plays. But I can keep a secret like nobodies business!

ANITA
Stop trying to lie to a mind reader
(MORE)

ANITA (CONT'D)
honey it's not fun for any of us.

Anita pulls out and lights a cigarette.

RITA
You don't have to erase my mind I was just depressed that's why I came in. I lost my job and was upset and this looked like the kind of place people can go when they have no where else to go. I promise I won't tell anyone!

ANITA
Calm down I ain't gonna wipe your mind. They only think I can do that anyway. I know you won't tell.

RITA
How did you know that?

ANITA
Geez you're slow on the uptake.

RITA
Excuse me for going through a lot! All my friends turned their backs on me today. Everyone in the office just watched me walk out and didn't say a word. I thought people liked me, I guess I'm not worth it.

ANITA
You want to know what I saw coming into work today?

RITA
What?

ANITA
I saw big ugly billboard.

RITA
With the guy and the flag on 3rd?

ANITA
Exactly. Anyway under that billboard on 3rd I saw a woman carrying a box, clearly having just been fired giving her last dollar to a homeless man. Imagine my surprise when I saw her in my bar not 15 minutes later. Girl like that wouldn't do anything to hurt anyone.
(MORE)

ANITA (CONT'D)

Phil has come out the back door and has been listening.

PHIL
I think she's right.

Rita turns and looks at him.

RITA
Thanks. Not that that'll help me if I can't get a job.

PHIL
I thought you got a new job, you looked so happy.

RITA
It was my old boss offering me a different place with lower pay. Basically an intern. I was just in denial I guess.

PHIL
Oh sorry.

RITA
Don't worry about it, what are we gonna do right now?

ANITA
Yeah big man what's the plan?

Phil walks over and folds his arms.

PHIL
Not sure it matters, we don't have to protect the bar if there is no bar.

ANITA
What are you talking about?

PHIL
My insurance is raising my premiums and I wont be able to keep up at this rate. I was supposed to send in an appeal letter but I think it got lost in the trash.

RITA
Premiums? Whose your policy with?

PHIL
Jorgenson and Morgenson.

Rita's eyes widen and she gets an idea.

RITA
No kidding?

PHIL
Yeah what of it?

RITA
I think I have an idea that will help both of us.

Rita stands up, determined.

RITA (CONT'D)
I'll show them whose not effective at customer relations.

PHIL
Hey you can't go in there, they'll go ballistic.

RITA
Leave that to me.

ANITA
You sure about this?

RITA
Positive, Phil get the power back on. Anita get Sean to help. Does he have powers too?

Sean runs over.

SEAN
Is fastest up and coming mogul of his generation a power?

RITA
For our purposes yes, but you also...?

SEAN
Yeah I'm real fast.

Sean runs off and comes back with Chinese food.

SEAN (CONT'D)
Want some?

RITA
No but listen up, I got a plan.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

The crowd is still muttering as the DJ tries to keep the party going.

DJ
Let's keep it going folks. We don't need to see to keep it hopping.

A member of the crowd sends a fireball at the DJ who ducks.

DJ (CONT'D)
Not cool! This is not worth 500 bucks!

The lights come back on and people raise their glasses. Phil comes around from the back wiping his hands.

PHIL
Alright everyone sorry for the misunderstanding if everyone could just direct their attention to the front wall that would be great.

THE MAJOR
Why should we?

PHIL
Cause the last one to do it pays for the next round.

The crowd quickly turn their backs on Phil. Sean pokes his head in and out than runs by with Rita into the office.

INT. PHILS OFFICE - CONTINUOUS

Sean drops Rita behind the desk.

SEAN
You good? First time can be rough.

RITA
I'm good, go do your thing.

SEAN
Got it!

Sean runs out, Rita pauses before grabbing a trashcan and vomiting into it.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR

PHIL
Oh looks like the DJ was last.

Everyone cheers

DJ
Wait what?

ANITA
Drinks all around!

SEAN (RUNNING UP)
Party on!

PHIL
Sean you know we're gonna talk about this later right?

SEAN
You mean all this business?

PHIL
About you going behind my back.

SEAN
Well you weren't listening. I had to show you!

PHIL
Yes yes I see that now. I'm willing to listen to your ideas but we have to work together. Not around each other.

SEAN
Deal. Which reminds me, next week I got a line on a petting zoo rental.

PHIL
One step at a time Sean.

Fade out.

INT. THE HIDEOUT - A BAR - LATER

The crowd is starting to thin out as Phil ushers the last few customers out.

PHIL
Thank you folks, you don't have to go home but you can't stay here. Lou I know you're invisible over there you too.

A floating beer nearby drops to a table. Footsteps are heard walking our the door. Phil closes and locks it with a sigh.

PHIL (CONT'D)
All clear folks.

Anita and Rita poke their heads out of the office and come out.

ANITA
Good riddance.

PHIL
You get it all done?

RITA
Easy peasy, your coverage was good, they were just trying to take advantage of a new law passed over Super activity. But it's fine, the appeal was easy and I got a guy who can deliver it after hours.

PHIL
I can't thank you enough.

RITA
You could cover my tab for the night.

PHIL
Deal. So what's next for you?

RITA
That cab still coming?

PHIL
Yeah but I meant...

RITA
I know. I mean I don't know but I
(MORE)

RITA (CONT'D)
think I'll be fine. If I can stand up to a room of super heroes I can find a new gig.

PHIL
You know if you want we can always use help.

RITA
Thanks but no thanks. I've seen what you deal with. These guys are a nightmare. I wouldn't be surprised if they all had their own insurance issues with the damage they can cause... huh that's interesting actually.

PHIL (HESITAITING)
What is it?

ANITA
Shhhhh, let her think.

A horn honks outside.

RITA
I gotta go! Thanks again!

Rita runs out.

INT. CAB - LATER

Rita is sitting in the back of a cab talking on her phone.

RITA
Yeah yeah Taylor I'm sorry I didn't pick up I was busy. No I'm fine, I know my texts were a little crazy but I figured it out. You know I over react. But it's okay I got a plan. Taking an idea out of Dads old salesman book. "Go where your clients are"... Where are they? uhhhh well that's the thing they're....

She hesitates realizing.

They're all in the same club. I'll tell you more about it next week. OK have a good night bro.

The cab comes to a sudden stop.

uhm I'm sorry is there a problem?

DRIVER
We're here, that'll be 13.50

RITA
What do you mean we're here?

DRIVER
Your apartment was only 3 blocks away.

RITA
Wait what, it is!?

The camera pans up to the full moon when a figure with a cape flies in front of it before dashing off. Fade Out.